

From: irene.dabanian
To: City Council
Subject: shoreline sanctuary city
Date: Monday, January 23, 2017 3:10:32 PM

We do not want Shoreline to break laws to become a sanctuary city. The loss of federal money due to disregard of law puts all members on City council as not representing their constituents. You all took an oath to abide by laws.

This is lawlessness.

Who determines which laws are to be followed and enforced and which are not? So now I can drive 50 miles an hour down RB road?

I really wish we never became incorporated. But I will hold you all responsible for any problems with law breaking, increase of taxes and fees needed to make up shortfalls due to loss of federal funding.

If anyone has a big heart for the poor, homeless, and others who will be allowed to break laws, then let them write a check to shelters etc to fix the problems. This is a democracy not a dictatorship.

Law breaking and deciding which laws will be broken is not constitutional.

It would be as if the south decided to enact slavery again under sanctuary city rules-breaking law when they saw fit-while slavery is not allowed anywhere in the country.

Who decides which laws will be not enforced?

Irene Dabanian, MBA is a NAPFA Registered Advisor (National Association of Personal Financial Advisors) IJD Evergreen Financial Services is a Registered Investment Advisor with the State of Washington in Shoreline, WA For information about the firm and resources:

"<http://www.ijdevergreen.com>" phone: 206-533-0569 IJD Evergreen LLC- Helping Middle

Americans make smarter financial decisions so they may build a brighter future. Please Note: The security or privacy of your e-mail, whether business related or personal, is not guaranteed. Do not send any sensitive or other confidential information such as account numbers, PIN numbers, soc security numbers. For regulatory purposes, copies of all e-mails to and from clients are archived by IJD Evergreen and may be viewed by members of the firm, compliance personnel, and NW regulatory examiners.