Shame on our City Council Last night my wife and I attended the Shoreline City Hall meeting to hear about proposed changes to our city codes. What occurred is shocking and should worry every home owner in Shoreline. Earlier this year, Councilmember Robert's proposed a change to our zoning. The change would allow all types of businesses to be run in a variety of residential zoning without the requirement of living in that home. This means bars, construction companies, etc could be right next to a home with children!!! Let's be clear, the Planning Commission voted unanimously to not approve this reckless proposal. The city's own staff, after an expensive study recommended that this amendment to our zoning should not be approved. But last night it seems that many of the council like it regardless. I'm afraid this looks like it will be approved, as the Council will make their final vote to approve this move next Monday, December 9th at the next Council meeting. What a shame that we have a council that doesn't trust its own staff or the entire Planning Commission!!! Shame on you Councilmembers, I really thought you cared more about families in Shoreline.
