7. Dear Council,

Thank you for considering the placement of a parks bond measure on the upcoming November ballot. Despite the April ballot falling just shy of the validation requirement, I believe the 72% "yes" vote is indicative of the broad community support for this initiative. Through the past year and a half of the pandemic, Shoreline residents have become increasingly aware of the value of our public spaces and we need to invest in them more.

The increasing costs of acquiring land and enhancing our parks is a concern if we defer another bond measure. The longer we wait to make sweeping investments across our park system, the more it will cost, and the less we'll be able to accomplish.

Please consider placing the park bond measure on the upcoming November ballot. Given the broad support for the previous measure and the fact that the subsequent election will be a general election, where more people show up to vote, I believe we will see the bond proposal succeed and our city will be better for it.

Thank you for considering,
Jeff Potter
